

SILVER WINS IN THE HOUSE.

BUT IT WAS BY THE CLOSE MARGIN OF ONLY NINE MAJORITY.

It was the Republicans, led by Mr. Burrows of Michigan, who saved the day for the silver men. Mr. Reed and his followers voted with the anti-silver Democrats. Mr. Bland declared that there was no head in the Government strong enough to compel the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law, and that no threat would deter the friends of silver from the performance of their duty. They may cause dissensions in the party.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—It was silver day in the House, and the friends of silver were victorious in the fight by a majority of nine. They sustained the demand for the previous question on the resolution setting apart to-day and to-morrow for the consideration of the bill repealing the Sherman law. Had the previous question been ordered, a cloture amendment would have been sprung upon the House and the struggle would then have been continued, but when it was ordered the advocates of the repeal bill gracefully passed under the rocks, and the resolution to be reconsidered without making any attempt at objection. This action, in the opinion of many, sounds the death knell of any silver legislation in the present Congress.

The Representatives of President-elect Cleveland do not admit their defeat. They say that neither in the Senate nor the House has the bill repealing the Sherman law been passed, and they hope that in a few days the question of repealing the Sherman law will be brought up in another form. The vote in the House to-day was rather close, and a change of a few votes would have meant a defeat for the silver men. It was the Republican vote that decided the day for the friends of silver, just as it was the Republican vote that kept the House from passing a free coinage bill at the last session. The handful of Republican members split to-day, one portion backing ex-Speaker Reed in voting with the anti-silver men, and the other portion siding with the silver men.

Immediately after the reading and approval of the journal, Mr. Cutchings (Dem. Miss.) called upon the resolution of the Committee on Rules setting apart this legislative day, and, if necessary, the next legislative day, to allow the consideration of the bill repealing the Sherman law.

Mr. Bacon (Dem. N. Y.), Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, then took the floor. The House, he said, was well informed as to the nature of the bill proposed to be considered, and he hoped to show the country which it was intended to relieve. The main purpose of the bill was that the purchase of silver bullion and the storing of it in the vaults of the Treasury as a commodity in metallic form and without coinage should stop. The rule as reported by the Committee on Rules would not be averted by any action of the House, and he hoped to show the country which it was intended to relieve. The main purpose of the bill was that the purchase of silver bullion and the storing of it in the vaults of the Treasury as a commodity in metallic form and without coinage should stop.

Mr. Bacon replied that he needed no authority to make the demand for the previous question. The Committee on Rules was not seeking to prevent the previous question being asked, but to prevent the previous question being asked. NO FRENCH BALL IN WASHINGTON.

The Builders' Exchange Revoked the Option on Their Ball.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Unless the managers of the French ball select another place for holding their annual ball, there will be no French ball this season in Washington. Representatives of the Builders' Exchange, who had been invited to the purpose, have come to the conclusion that they will close their hall and not allow it to be occupied on the 15th instant. In a letter to the District Commissioners the President of the Exchange says that the management of the hall had received from various sources a great deal of trouble and that the hall was not a suitable place for the purpose.

Notwithstanding Lieut. Ames' report the District Attorney decided that the Commissioners had no right to interfere in anticipation of any alleged irregularity. The Commissioners were unable to find any provision in the laws of the District of Columbia that prohibited the holding of a ball in the hall, and accordingly told President H. A. Jones of the Builders' Exchange that the matter lay wholly in his own hands until there was sufficient excuse for police interference.

BITTER WARFARE AMONG DEMOCRATS OVER THE SILVER QUESTION.

The interference of Mr. Cleveland's Representatives to vote with the Silver Men—A Majority of the Democratic Members Sign a Petition for a Cloture Rule on the New York and New Jersey Bridge Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A bitter party warfare has been engendered by the long struggle so desperately fought during the past few days for some settlement of the silver question that would prevent it from being left a legacy to the new Administration. Representative Don M. Dickinson, who has been in the heart of the matter more than a score of Democrats in the House to-day when he announced that if the fight on silver is persisted in a serious rupture of the Democratic party would be the result.

While it is not impossible that the subject of silver will be brought up again in the House for action in one House or the other, or both, during the present session, as some of the Silver Men are still in the House, it is probable that the remaining three weeks of the session will be devoted to matters already arranged for, and the question of silver will be left to the new Administration.

SAFETY ON THE VESUVIUS.

More Experiments with the Pneu-Pneumatic Gun.

PORT ROYAL, Feb. 9.—The weather sea-tempered with the firing of the pneumatic gun of the Vesuvius to-day. The experiments to insure safety in the fuse action were continued throughout the day. Since Capt. Hapfeldt has arrived and given the Board the benefit of his experience, the plans have been changed. The gun's action was tested by Capt. Hapfeldt to-day and asked him if the delay was due to the fuse. He said:

"My fuse is an unfired invention and involves new principles. It was designed to meet the requirements of the pneumatic gun. When the smoke had cleared away to permit on impact with a solid target. When I began work on the fuse it was with an understanding that it would receive a careful trial before the Vesuvius used it in her practice. Neither the Pneu-Pneumatic Gun Company nor the Government has tested the fuse, and I am unwilling to subject the gun to a preliminary work. These experiments with the pneumatic gun were the proper size of the pin to use in the safety attachment of the fuse and test the action of the ball which explodes the caps."

When asked about the trial Capt. Hapfeldt said that the trial was the most severe any gun had ever been subjected to. He called the fact that this is a torpedo system, and can hardly be compared with the action of a high-powered gun. At the nighting range, however, he said, it will do more accurate work than the powder gun.

The trial ball is willing to take every precaution to insure the safety of the gun. The gun is willing to take every precaution to insure the safety of the gun. BURNED TRYING TO SAVE OTHERS.

Albert Green Handed the Household, but He and Three Others Died in the Flames.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—At 3:55 o'clock this morning smoke was seen issuing from a third-floor window above John Heider's restaurant at 205 and 207 West Fifth street. The fire spread to the upper floors of the vacant building adjoining at the east, 203 West Fifth street, and the top of the structure adjoining at the west, 201 West Fifth street, occupied by G. A. Heider as a restaurant. Heider and his daughter Annie, occupants of the living rooms above, escaped without much difficulty. The discover that four persons had perished in the flames was not made until about 1 o'clock. When the smoke had cleared away to permit the firemen went into the Heider building. The first room entered was the bedroom of Fred Detzler, aged 22, a waiter in the restaurant. Under the bed lay the remains of Detzler. In the next room was found the body of a baker, whose name was not known. The body was found in the next room. The body was found in the next room.

VIGOROUS TRAINING SYSTEM OF THE AUSTRALIAN FUGITIVE.

Novel Methods of Preparing for a Big Battle—Lakewood Shook by the Presence of the Police in the Streets—Hall's Vigorous Training System of the Australian Fugitive.

If one listened intently to the whispering places at Lakewood it is possible that some interesting information might be secured. Perhaps it might be learned that Presidential Cabinet construction and smart social functions are not the only things that attract attention to this place. It is a resort, and in a very low whisper the amazing intelligence would probably be imparted that a horrid prize fighter had brushed himself upon the shocked community. Certain it is that the whispering place would have a basis of fact for such communications. For James Hall, the Australian fugitive, is now enjoying the temperate climate, the elevated social atmosphere, and the other manifold advantages of the fair village in which the Little White House is situated.
